Task 2

Insights:

1. Website development is the biggest opportunity. Out of 175 businesses, 104 do not have a website, indicating a strong demand for website development services.
2. Restaurants are the most represented business category. With 19 restaurants, this sector offers significant potential for digital transformation and online visibility.
3. Schools, parlours, and clothing stores also represent major opportunities. These categories together account for a large portion of the dataset and can benefit from digital solutions such as websites, social media marketing, and business management systems.
4. Most businesses have a Google Business Profile, but some need improvement. While 164 businesses have a listed GMB profile, 11 businesses have incomplete listings, creating opportunities for GMB optimization.
5. Social media presence is inconsistent. Although 125 businesses have active Instagram accounts, 50 businesses have no Instagram presence, limiting their ability to reach local customers online.
6. High-priority leads dominate the dataset. Out of 175 businesses, 102 are marked as High Priority, showing a substantial number of businesses with multiple digital gaps.
7. Website development is the most requested service. It appears as the primary requirement for 102 businesses, making it the highest-demand service in your research.

Recommendations:

1. Prioritize high-priority businesses first. Focus sales efforts on the 102 high-priority leads, as they have the greatest potential for adopting digital services.
2. Promote website development as the flagship service. Since more than half of the businesses lack a website, offer affordable website packages tailored to local businesses.
3. Bundle multiple digital services. Businesses lacking both a website and social media presence should be offered combined packages including Website Development, Social Media Marketing, and GMB Management.

4. Target restaurants, schools, parlours, and clothing stores. These categories represent the largest share of your dataset and are likely to generate higher conversion rates.
5. Improve online visibility through GMB optimization. Businesses with incomplete Google Business Profiles should be encouraged to update their listings with accurate business information, photos, operating hours, and customer reviews to improve local search performance.
